GREG MINNAAR

Greg Minnaar is a South African World Champion downhill mountain bike racer who competes in Mountain Bike World Cup. Greg started his passion for 2 wheels at 5 years old, following the foot steps of his father into Motocross. Today, Minnaar is currently the most winning professional downhill mountain bike racer, with 18 (and counting...) world cup victories. Airbrake MX with PRIZM Trail is Greg's choice for protection and precision line selection while scanning the trail as he chases down every fraction of a second he can put together a winning run.

“Most of times there are obstructive views and light obstacles in my way during a race. Oakley Prizm Trail technology helps me see details that I need to so I can steer clear of anything that could harm my chances of a victory.”
