CATEGORY MANAGER-EMERGING MARKETS

As category manager of emerging markets, Scott Randall has spent the last four years discovering product needs in new markets across the globe. Utilizing his expertise and knowledge around what new markets are looking for, Scott serves as a soundboard to the Prizm process and advancements.

As an avid golfer, Scott relies on Oakley Prizm Golf to enhance details during his weekend rounds with friends.

“The development of Prizm Cricket was personally very exciting for me. I presented the Oakley development team with the case for why it should be created, and now we have a lens to support one of the highest played sports in the world.”
