

TATIANA KALACHE

RESEARCH & DEVELOPMENT PRODUCT
PERFORMANCE SPECIALIST

With over six years of experience in the Research & Development team at Oakley, Tatiana Kalache has a hand in every stage of product development. As the only female member of the Research & Development team, Kalache plays a pivotal role in driving innovation -- from field testing with athletes to in lab Prizm trials.

With a passion for world travel, Kalache has viewed countless countries through the Prizm lens for an enhanced experience.

“Whether it’s providing a better visual experience in general or giving people a competitive edge, I love making products that get people excited about what they see.”